Taliban fighters have moved into Pakistan’s cities in strength, threatening to bring chaos to the streets. The greatest prize in this war is Karachi, Pakistan’s commercial center, where the terrorists now control entire districts. But a group of around 100 dedicated cops take the fight to the Taliban, carrying out lightning raids on Taliban strongholds in the city. The team has become known as “The Taliban Hunters,” the front-line commandos against a ruthless enemy. 1x49 HD

Memory Hackers
Using cutting-edge research, neuroscientists are exploring the precise molecular mechanisms of memory. For much of human history, memory has been seen as a tape recorder that faithfully registers information and replays it back intact. Now, researchers are discovering that memory is far more malleable, always being written and rewritten. As we are discovering the precise mechanisms that explain and can even control our memories, the question is—are we ready? 1x53 HD

Martin Luther
Narrated by Hugh Bonneville, this rousing docudrama chronicles the story of Martin Luther’s harrowing quest to upend the power structure that had ruled Europe for a thousand years and set history on a new trajectory towards equality, universal education and women’s rights. The film also considers the darker, less known side of Luther’s legacy that led to the rise of nationalism and links to the Nazi Holocaust. 1x60 HD

IN PRODUCTION FOR THE 100-YEAR ANNIVERSARY

The Great War
The involvement of the United States in the First World War forever changed the way the nation saw itself and its place in the world. The great conflict would also fundamentally change the nature of American society, undermining the progressive movement, giving birth to the national security state, reordering the place of women and African Americans in the culture and changing the government’s role in almost every aspect of the American economy. Available in time for the 100 year anniversary of the U.S. entering World War I on April 6, 1917, this series explores the defining outcome of the United States’ experience in the Great War. 3x120, 6x60 HD

CyberWar Threat
The global cyberwar is heating up and the stakes are no longer limited to the virtual world of computers—now, cyber weapons can inflict physical damage. Highly sophisticated, stealthy computer programs such as the notorious Stuxnet worm can destroy the control systems that regulate everything from food factories to gas pipelines, power plants and chemical facilities—even the elevators in our apartment buildings. Featuring leading defense experts and investigative journalists who have probed the murky realm of criminal and strategic hacking, NOVA examines the chilling new reality of cyberwar in which no nation or individual is safe from attack. 1x52 HD

Growing Up Trans
Just a generation ago, it was adults, not kids, who changed genders. But today, many children are transitioning too—with new medical options and at younger and younger ages. FRONTLINE takes viewers on an intimate journey inside this new frontier—where it’s now possible for kids who feel they were born in the wrong body to never have to go through the puberty of their biological sex. Told from the perspective of parents, doctors and the kids themselves, this documentary takes a powerful look at this new generation, exploring the medical possibilities, struggles and choices transgender kids and their families face today. 1x82 HD

Making North America
For the first time, NOVA reveals how startlingly different North America’s ancient past was compared to today—giant marine reptiles once swam over the cornfields of Kansas, Central Park was part of a mountain range as high as the Himalayas and gigantic super-eruptions almost tore the continent in two just before the dinosaurs rose to rule the land. To visualize the vanished landscapes and the hidden forces that shaped them, this series features live-action CGI animation sequences that lift the lid off of North America, stripping away the ancient rock layers to reveal the past. 3x53 HD
CHILDREN’S PROGRAMMING
