NASSER'S REPUBLIC

THE MAKING OF MODERN EGYPT

In 1952 a young Egyptian colonel named Gamal Abdel Nasser led a coup that became a revolution, winning the support of millions of his countrymen. Over the next 18 years he challenged Western hegemony abroad, confronted Islamism at home, established the region's first military authoritarian regime and faced deep divisions among the Arab people. A man of enormous charisma and ambition, Nasser died at 52 with his dreams of a new Egypt in tatters. He had given the Arab world a new way to see itself, but the time has come for that world to confront Nasser's legacy. 1x56 HD

WILD WAYS

Wild Ways showcases new, cutting-edge solutions for making room for wildlife on an ever-more crowded planet. Since the start of the Industrial Revolution, human development has usurped the homelands of the largest mammals on Earth and confined them to parks and preserves. Recent research shows that these islands of habitat are too small and disconnected to sustain healthy populations of animals. A new approach, connectivity conservation, is attempting to link these isolated groups of wildlife in novel ways. Wild Ways is a unique story about an alternate vision for re-assembling a fragmented planet. 1x53 HD

The Choice 2016

Since 1988, when FRONTLINE first presented a dual biography of U.S. presidential candidates Michael Dukakis and George H.W. Bush, The Choice has earned a reputation as one of the pinnacles of political broadcast journalism. FRONTLINE's critically acclaimed special returns for the 2016 election to examine the rich personal and political biographies of the presidential candidates through interviews with those who best know the candidates in private and as public figures. This landmark special goes behind the headlines to tell a deeper story about the candidates, the decisions they made and why their nominations could indicate historic change in American politics. November 2016, 1x120 HD

Dream On

Dream On investigates the perilous state of the American Dream after decades of rising income inequality and declining economic mobility. In an epic road trip, political comedian John Fugelsang retraces the journey of Alexis de Tocqueville, whose study of the United States of America in 1831 came to define the country as a place where anyone, of any background, could climb the ladder of economic opportunity. Following in the Frenchman's footsteps, Fugelsang asks whether the optimistic spirit of the American Dream that Tocqueville popularized is alive and well in the twenty-first century, or whether George Carlin was right when he famously quipped, "It's called the American Dream because you have to be asleep to believe it." 1x116 HD

The White House: Inside Story

The White House is a living symbol of the United States—an icon of democracy where the president of the United States charts the course for the country and where a family lives in the national spotlight. This film weaves together the 200-year history of the most famous house in America through stories from First Families, White House workers, historians and members of the press. Standing at the epicenter of global politics and in the heart of the nation's capital, the story of the White House is the story of America itself. 1x115, 2x54 HD

Life's Rocky Start

Four-and-a-half billion years ago, the young earth was a chaos of meteorite impacts, volcanoes and lightning flashing through a thin atmosphere. With no protective ozone layer, ultraviolet radiation sterilized earth's hot, bleak surface. Then, in a process that has puzzled scientists for decades, the first microbes took hold. In Life's Rocky Start, dynamic geophysicist Robert Hazen advances a startling and counter-intuitive idea—that the rocks beneath our feet were essential to jump-starting life. As Hazen journeys to spectacular locations from Hawaii to Morocco, we discover that as microbes flourished and took over the biosphere, hundreds of minerals we know and depend on today were born. 1x53 HD

Walt Disney

Walt Disney was a master filmmaker who harnessed the power of technology to tell stories of outsiders struggling for acceptance and belonging, while questioning the conventions of class and authority. As Disney rose to prominence and gained financial security, his work became increasingly celebratory of the American way of life that made his unlikely success possible. A polarizing figure—though true believers vastly outnumber his critics—Disney's achievements are indisputable. AMERICAN EXPERIENCE examines Disney's complex life and continuing legacy, featuring rare archival footage from the Disney vaults, interviews with biographers and historians, and the animators and designers who helped turn his dreams into reality. Walt Disney is both an inspiring story and a cautionary tale about the price of an empire. 2x112, 4x54 HD

My Brother's Bomber

For 25 years, FRONTLINE producer Ken Dornstein has been haunted by the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland—the terrorist act that killed 270 people, including his older brother David. Now, in this emotional and suspenseful film, Dornstein sets out to find the men responsible for one of the worst attacks on Americans before 9/11. From the ruins and chaos of post-Qaddafi Libya, Dornstein hunts for clues to the identities and whereabouts of the suspects, who he tracks for almost five years across the Middle East and Europe in this real-life spy thriller. 3x54, 1x90 HD

Inside Einstein's Mind

On November 15, 1915, Albert Einstein published his greatest work—his general theory of relativity. This theory transformed our understanding of nature's laws and the entire history of the cosmos, reaching back from the present moment to the origin of time itself. Now, NOVA tells the inside story of Einstein's masterpiece. From the first spark of an idea to the discovery of the expanding universe, the Big Bang, black holes and dark energy, Inside Einstein's Mind uncovers the inspired insights and brilliant breakthroughs of "the perfect theory," perhaps the greatest science story of all time. 1x53 HD

Are You Smarter than Your Pet?

From counting canines to safe-cracking cockatoos, Are You Smarter Than Your Pet? is packed with entertaining revelations and mind-boggling experiments that shed light on animal intelligence and make us see our own brains in an entirely new way. Testing the assumption that humans are the smartest species on Earth, a range of animals are pitted against people in special tasks. Each episode challenges humans and animals to incredible feats in a showdown between the intelligence of humans and the untapped abilities of animals operating outside of their normal zone. The results are surprising, hilarious and often extraordinary. 2x44 HD

The Taliban Hunters

December 2014's attack on the Army Public School in Peshawar when the Taliban killed 145 people, 132 of them children, was the most public moment in a war that has been growing in intensity for the last five years. Taliban fighters have moved into Pakistan's cities in strength, threatening to bring chaos to the streets. The greatest prize in this war is Karachi, Pakistan's commercial center, where the terrorists now control entire districts and bombings are a regular occurrence, financed through kidnappings, assassinations, drugs, gambling and even prostitution. Ijaz leads a group of around 100 dedicated cops who take the fight to the Taliban, carrying out lightning raids on Taliban strongholds in the city. Ijaz's team has become known as "The Taliban Hunters," the front-line commandos against a ruthless enemy. 1x49 HD

Through a Lens Darkly: Black Photographers and the Emergence of a People

Through a Lens Darkly is the first documentary to explore the role of photography in shaping the identity, aspirations and social emergence of African Americans from slavery to the present. The film brings to light previously hidden and largely unknown images by African American photographers dating back to the very beginning of photography. These images show a more complex and nuanced view of American culture and society while exploring the ways African Americans continue to use the medium as a tool for social change. 1x55 HD

Black Panthers: Vanguard of the Revolution

The rise and fall of the Black Panther Party during the 1960s and beyond is the story of a growing pride in black culture and more militant demands for justice and racial equality, with a cast of larger-than-life personalities including Huey Newton, Bobby Seale, Stokely Carmichael, Malcolm X, Eldridge and Kathleen Cleaver and Fred Hampton. Renowned documentarian Stanley Nelson masterfully assembles rare archival footage that contextualizes the history of the Panthers—begun in response to racism and police brutality. The Black Panthers does not hesitate to critique its subject, nor does it shy away from judging the corrupt activities of J. Edgar Hoover's FBI or the countless shoot-outs, raids and arrests that were the response of local police. It is a history that needs to be told to understand today's incendiary racial landscape. 2x54, 1x114 HD

Bonnie & Clyde

Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow were the most famous criminal couple in U.S. history. During the height of the Great Depression, their gang evolved from petty thieves to nationally known bank robbers and murderers. Newsreels across the country flashed images of a pixyish Bonnie and handsome Clyde, turning them into the underworld's dark prince and princess of crime. In reality, Bonnie and Clyde grew up in the slums of West Dallas and had little in common with their glamorous media images. Their two year crime spree ended when the couple was betrayed by a friend and shot dead at a police roadblock in Louisiana on May 23, 1934. 1x52 HD

To visualize the vanished landscapes and the hidden forces that shaped them, this series features live-action CGI animation sequences that lift the lid off of North America, stripping away the ancient rock layers to reveal the past. 3x53 HD

100 YEARS ANNIVERSARY OF NOTE

HISTORY

The Great War

The involvement of the United States in the First World War forever changed the way the nation saw itself and its place in the world. Entry into the war triggered both an eruption of nationalist pride and a renewed belief in the power of American exceptionalism. The great conflict would fundamentally change the nature of American society, undermining the progressive movement, giving birth to the national security state, reordering the place of women and African-Americans in the culture and changing the government's role in almost every aspect of the American economy. In time for the 100 year anniversary of the U.S. entering World War I, this three part series explores the defining outcome of the United States' experience in the Great War. Spring 2017, 3x120 HD

Siege of Mecca

1979 began with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's return to Iran and the Islamic revolution and ended with the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. In between, Egypt signed a peace treaty with Israel to the outrage of the Arab countries, Saddam Hussein took power in Iraq and Pakistan's former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto was hanged by Mohammed Zia ul-Haq who began the nuclear proliferation with India. This film lifts the veil on a hidden secret of modern history: the 1979 Siege of the Grand Mosque in Mecca—an event as unknown as it was earth-shattering—that almost brought down Saudi Arabia and ultimately marked the beginning of international religious terrorism as we know it today. Winter 2017, 1x52, 1x90 HD

Building Chernobyl's Mega Tomb

On April 26, 1986, a catastrophic blast blew the lid off Chernobyl's Reactor No. 4. The explosion was 400 times more potent than the Hiroshima bomb, igniting fires that burned for 10 days and sending a radioactive cloud across Europe. In the aftermath, ill-equipped workers heroically sealed the smoldering reactor in a concrete sarcophagus, but the hastily constructed shelter was only built to last 30 years. Now, 30 countries including the UK, France, and the United States, have come together to build a mighty 25,000-ton steel shelter which will entomb the radiation and last for a century. Building Chernobyl's Mega Tomb follows the team of international engineers as they race against time to build the structure over the disaster site. Winter 2017, 1x60 HD
