

LOSING IRAQ

1 x 86 HD

PBS®

INTERNATIONAL

LOSING IRAQ

1 x 86 HD

CONTACT

Tom Koch, Vice President
PBS International
10 Guest Street
Boston, MA 02135 USA

TEL: +1-617-208-0735
FAX: +1-617-208-0783

jt Koch@pbs.org
pbsinternational.org

Iraq is once again in crisis, with Islamic extremists gaining ground, civil war hanging in the balance, and the Obama administration being pulled back towards the conflict two-and-a-half years after the United States pulled out of Iraq—a conflict that is projected to cost America more than two trillion dollars.

What went wrong? How did we get here? And what happens now?

FRONTLINE's Losing Iraq draws on one of the richest archives in broadcast journalism (including more than 40 reports on the war on terror), as well as new, in-depth interviews with policymakers and military leaders, and the investigative team behind The Lost Year in Iraq, The Torture Question, Endgame, and Bush's War, to trace the United States' role from the 2003 invasion to the current violence—exploring how and why Iraq itself is now coming undone.

“In reporting this documentary and tracing the history of our involvement in Iraq, it's become clear that the crisis that's unfolding right now isn't the result of just one or two big decisions,” says veteran FRONTLINE filmmaker Michael Kirk. “It's the tragic accumulation of many mistakes and miscalculations. You see them stack up—and you see how, from the very start, nearly every step of the way, we made fateful decisions.”

In Losing Iraq, FRONTLINE reveals the key political stories behind the Iraq war's defining moments: from the toppling of the statue of Saddam Hussein, to Fallujah and Abu Ghraib, to the U.S. role in creating Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki's government and then trying to restrain it, and to the Sunni tribal leaders and the violent rise of the radical jihadist group, ISIS (Islamic State of Iraq and Syria).

“You can't understand what's happening right now in Iraq without understanding the context of the U.S.'s involvement—how the war has been fought, both deep inside the government and on the ground,” Kirk says. “With the violence in Iraq spreading, and questions about the U.S.'s involvement and responsibility permeating the national conversation, it's our obligation and our promise to bring that context to the public in Losing Iraq.”

150068

CREDITS

Producer: Michael Kirk, Jim Gilmore, Mike Wiser

Director: Michael Kirk

Writers: Michael Kirk and Mike Wiser

FRONTLINE Deputy Executive Producer: Raney Aronson-Rath

FRONTLINE Executive Producer: David Fanning

Photos: Courtesy of © STRINGER/IRAQ/Reuters/Corbis; Allgusak (background); Dmitri Melnik (blast cloud)

PBS®

INTERNATIONAL